TRIBUTE OF RESPECT. At a meeting of the Physicians of Nashville, held July 8, 1857, Dr. Felix Robertson was called to the chair, and, on motion of Dr. T. A. Atchison, Dr. J.

H. Morton was made secretary. On motion of Dr. J. D. Winston, the chair appointed Drs. Wharton, Mayfield, Winston, Madden and Ford a committee to draft suitable resolutions touching the death of Dr. Jso. S. Youse, who departed this life on Tuesday, July 7. This committee, after retiring, brought in the following, which were adopted: Whereas, It has been announced that Dr. John S. Young is no more! We deem it an act of simple justice to the memory of the deceased to express publicly our sincere sorrow, in [common with our fellow-citizens, for the death of one who had endeared himself to all by the rare excellencies of his character, and especially to us by the honorable bearing, the high attainments, the solid learning and the professional skill which made him an ornament to our profession as well as 'a safejand successful practioner of our art. Gifted by nature with strong intellectual powers, improved by assiduous and early culture, his whole career is marked by the evidences of a strong and well-balanced mind, a clear and discriminating judgment, and that rare quality which we denominate strong common sense. Free from the weakness of vanity, unwarped by the selfishness of ambition, the spirit of the man was the spirit of humanity, that ever sought to identify itself with the interests and the wants of all, delighting most in the daily activities of a liberal charity. Seldom has one passed away from our midst who labored more assiduously, with a straight forward and honest purpose, to meet the obligations of society resting upon him, and discharge his whole duty, whether in the public or private walks of life-leaving the community in which he lived to feel that each individual, in his death, had lost a friend. In the active and unavoidable rivalries of business, and in his intercourse with professional brethren, his conduct was most correct and honorable. Without the envy of little minds, he was just and liberal in the appreciation and the praise of others, while he was delicately scrupulous and careful of the reputation, the feelings and the rights of his brethren.

Thus, in the meredian of his usefulness, his name has been stricken from the roll of the living; his spirit has gone back to God who gave it; his body has returned to the dust of which it was made; and to us, it is only left to imitate his example and let the memory of his virtues be embalmed in our
